3 OF THE SHAVING

Ingrown hairs? Mmm, not fun at all. Avoid them by gently exfoliating your skin daily, which gets rid of dead skin cells that block hair, causing ingrown hairs.

Always shave after you've let the skin soak for a few minutes in warm water. This softens the skin and the hair will come out more easily. Never dry-shave.

Because shaving is a natural exfoliator, your legs will be very dry afterwards. Make sure you put back in what you've taken out by applying a suitable moisturiser.
